SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At drugists. 50c. large box, or by mail. The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

SOLITE OIL

the Lamp Oil that Saves Eyes

Nothing is more important in the home than clear, steady light. Insure this by getting the oil that burns clear and clean without a flicker down to the last drop. Pennsylvania crude oil refined to perfection. Costs no more than the inferior kerosene oils—saves MONEY—saves WORK—saves eyes. Your dealer has SOLITE OIL in barrels direct from our works.

GAME BIRDS PLENTIFUL AND COVER WILL BE SCARCE

Quail are reported much more plentiful this year than for the last two seasons, said J. Q. Ward, executive agent of the State Game and Fish Commission. A shortage of cover, due to the prolonged drought, he believes will make the sport exceptionally fine when the season opens the middle of November. Last year unseasonable floods washed away the nests at brooding time, and the year before flood and cold weather got many of the birds. At the same time market hunters were slaughtering and shipping out of the State thousands of birds. By co-operation between the State and Federal departments that has been made too hazardous an occupation to be profitable and Kentucky is rapidly being re-stocked.

The streams, likewise, are being replenished with game. The drought has helped the fish through the spawning season and been beneficial to the fries placed in Kentucky and other rivers by the Government fishery service. The fish spawn in the small tributary streams. Freshets cause the spawn to be washed away and the little fish torn from the protection of the mother to be devoured by enemies or killed by the sediment held in suspension. The lack of freshets has permitted the spawn to develop in shallow water and protected the fries cast in these tributary streams.

RINGLING DAY ALMOST HERE.

Children are now on their best behavior in anticipation of a real holiday treat on September 22, when Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in Lexington. It is expected that this city will send more than its usual number of "sawdust fans" to welcome this popular circus.

Ringling Brothers promise many novelties and innovations and a "bigger and better everything" is the slogan. Preceding the regular circus performance the new spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" will be enacted on the largest stage in the world. This mammoth 1,500-character pageant cost $1,000,000 and the costumes, scenery and stage properties are said to be a revelation in gorgeousness. Among the 385 arenic acts, are scores of equestrians including the Lloyds, famous English riders; the Borsinis, rolling globe artists; the Balkans, whirlwind riders from the Balkan mountains; the five highest perch acts ever presented; boxing and wrestling kangaroos; five herds of trick elephants; 50 clowns, 20 families of aerialists and a magnificent horse show and speed tournament. The menagerie is larger and more complete than ever and features many animals never before exhibited in America. A free street parade will be given on the morning of show day.

THE VANISHED LOTTERY.

When we went wooing ages since, we learned the lady's views concerning churches, dances, books, or expurgated news; we thrilled to hear her talk of the topics of the day, like Dicken's new novelette or Browning's sweetest play. 'Twas joy enough for us to see the damsel of our choice. It didn't matter what she said—we liked to hear her voice. We took her inner views of faith, we wooed and won and wed, before we had the vaguest glimpse of what was in her head.

It's different now—these modern girls discuss with pith and zest the things their grandmas didn't know or kept inside the chest. The fresh young voices prate of sin, the social evil, vice, and divers other vital things which weren't considered "nice." The swain who woos in day like these no doubt can plague or vex—he knows his darling's inmost thought on every phase of sex!

Our ancient charmers—bless their hearts! did so devise their dress that of the things they wore beneath no manly mind might guess. They showed us hooped and flouncy frocks, but all that these revealed not even hinted of the fascinations they concealed. We had to marry ere we knew what ladies really wore—at least no righteous male dared own he'd found it out before!

But nowadays the modest maid rejoices to display her raiment's inner mysteries adown the broad highway! Serene, unblushing, calm and cool, to passersby she shows the ribbons of her brassiere, the texture of her hose. Chemise and slip and knickers, too, the modern fashion bares—none save a blind man now need wed unknowing what she wears!

We paid our court to maids whose forms escaped our avid gaze; who cheated nature's lines and curves in divers cunning ways. If they wore freckles on their arms—as damsels often did—those sweet defects, like dearer charms, remained securely hid. They showed their faces, bared their hands, revealed a furtive shoe, but bow-legged, knock-kneed, stout or slims?—we wed 'em ere we knew!

Their young supplanters scorn to veil a single curve or line till men (including artists) know what makes "the form divine!" No modern lover raves about his lady's lips or eyes—why should he? He's a connoisseur of ankles, knees and thighs! The mysteries we wed to pierce are solved at tea or dance—

Hooraay! A man can marry now and never take a chance!

EARLY WAR NEWS.

GERMANS PUSH FORWARD.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of the Times at Dieppe under Thursday date indicates that the Germans are less than twenty-five miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Lenois and Crepy-En-Valois."

"The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only seventeen miles north of Paris."

"The Germans are also near Soissons."

GERMAN LINES ADVANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The armies of Germany, Austria, Russia, France and Great Britain are still at death grips in four colossal battles.

A few brief bulletins convey all the important facts that the peoples of Europe know about the war.

The past twenty-four hours has yielded no definite news of the progress of the battle in Northern France. The public is prepared to learn that the German advance continued to the outer lines of the defenses of Paris.

There it is expected that the allied armies will make a stand on the line from Verdun on the east to the sea and attempt with all their might to stay the German avalanche.

The British public has turned hopeful eyes toward the east where the triumphs of Russian arms in the Austrian province of Galicia have been confirmed. In addition to the battle of Lemberg, in which the power of six Austrian army corps were destroyed, it is evident that there has been a simultaneous victory at Tomaszow, a town of some importance, thirty miles southeast of Lodd, in Russian Poland.

ONLY TWENTY-FIVE MILES FROM PARIS.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In a dispatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans.

This is in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire.

This will only be done, the correspondent declares, in case the outer line of the defenses of Paris are passed by the invaders.

British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to other cities and the great exodus of the populace of the French capital to the south continues.

The outer ring of forts surrounding Paris, of which St. Cyr is the principal one, is ten miles from the city. This fact reconciles the two dispatches received here, one that the German advance guard was within thirty miles of Paris and the other that they were no closer than forty miles. According to the best information obtainable the Germans were within forty miles of the city and thirty miles from the nearest fort.

ENGLAND CALLS ALL FIGHTING MEN.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of the Times at St. Petersburg, capital of the Russian Empire since 1712, will henceforth be known as Petrograd. This change eliminates the Teuton construction in the name by which the chief city of Russia has been known since it was founded by Peter the Great in 1703.

CITY'S NAME CHANGED.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from St. Petersburg says that by imperial order the city of St. Petersburg, capital of the Russian Empire since 1712, will henceforth be known as Petrograd. This change eliminates the Teuton construction in the name by which the chief city of Russia has been known since it was founded by Peter the Great in 1703.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE LEMBERG.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuter Telegram Company says the commander-in-chief has notified the Emperor that the Russians have occupied Lemberg.

The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Times in a report on the operations around Lemberg, says:

"The forts of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia near Lublin. We may yet have to chronicle the complete disruption of the Dual Monarchy's forces."

The operations extended over an enormous front of 200 miles and probably a million and a half were engaged.

FREAKS IN NAME.

One of our contemporaries down the State inveighs against "the senseless silliness of sticking on a final 'e' to names where it doesn't belong." Some people do a lot of funny things with their names and "senseless silliness" is very appropriate in some instances. This is an era of simplified spelling, but the orthography or proper names gets no better fast. Ever since Molly and Polly and Sally began adding a final "e" to their lovely given names it has been going from bad to worse. When Mamie was transformed to Mayme it looked as if the limit had been reached, but we strongly suspect that some of the male boneheads in this country will some day be calling themselves Jym and Byll instead of the familiar Jim and Bill of their boyhood days.

The burlesque houses might as well stay closed until cold weather comes along. Who wants to look at tights when he can see near Sept. A. M.'s on the street?

Anyway, Adam never had to get up out of bed and empty the pan under the ice box.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS:

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

Every woman believes that if she dies before her husband he will dig up some snippy young thing and make her stepmother to the children.

After a woman gets the middle-aged spread she knows that the corset firms are making corsets smaller than they used to, but she will never admit that she is any broader than she used to be.

The old-fashioned girl who used to be afraid that she would show through now has a daughter who wouldn't think of going out until she is certain that you can read a newspaper through her skirt.

Cheer up! The people you envy are busy envying people higher up. We are all willing to grant the Preacher a shorter working day.

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, dizziness, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. Thousands of women, who have been benefited by this remedy, urge you to
